What is the Campus Recruiting Forum?

The Forum is the premier conference focused exclusively on enhancing the knowledge and skills of employers hiring college students and graduates. The Forum delivers the most current expertise in the field of campus recruiting through a series of workshops, keynotes, and networking opportunities. Last year, hundreds of employers of all sizes attended the Forums in nine different cities across North America.

Why Should You Attend?

At the 2009 Campus Recruiting Forum, you will:

- Discover strategies and cost-effective tactics that will improve your recruiting
- Implement the best methods for attracting, recruiting, and retaining the most talented students
- Learn ideas and approaches for adapting to the changing economy and shifting recruitment marketplace
- Save your travel budget and time away from the office with the one-day format
- Expand your network with experts and recruiters who will help you avoid pitfalls and share their best practices
